

Help us to continue to promote the work of remarkable women.

BECOME A WOMEN  TALKING SPONSOR

Since our launch three years ago, Women Talking has enjoyed a successful relationship with a select number of businesses, running rewarding promotions and writing great articles and editorial for many of the companies we have focused on.

During this time we have featured over 200 exclusive interviews, hundreds of additional articles and seen our readership grow from hundreds in the early stages to many thousands today.

We are fortunate to be able to boast a readership from 18 to 80 and our "fan base" extends from full time mothers and homemakers to prominent businesswomen and career driven individuals. Our topics are driven by our subscribers and cover everything from health and beauty to celebrity interviews and lifestyle interests.

However, throughout our steady growth we have never lost sight of the principals that encouraged our formation and aided our development.

Our team remains focused on :

The promotion of remarkable women in all areas of society.

We believe that our subscribers and readers share our philosophy and as a consequence support our message.

In 2010 we want to continue to spread the word and get even more women to "join the conversation".

We hope that you will continue to support what we are doing and we have listed a number of opportunities that we can offer you and your business.

WomenTalking.co.uk Sponsorship – How does it work?

Graphic Design

Our designer will create your image/banner for you. We will follow your requirements and match the visuals of your website for no additional cost.

Technical note: We only display static images. No Flash, no animations. The reason is simple: they don't work on mobile phones and we want Women Talking to be accessible across as many mediums as possible.

Links to your website

Each sponsor image will have at least one link plus a short description below.

Your image can include more than one link if needed.

Women Talking's policy regarding external links is also great for your organisation because we don't employ "no follow".

In simple terms this means that search engines such as Google, Bing and Yahoo will use the popularity of Women Talking pages to rank your website higher.

Image Positioning

The home page slots on the right column are not fixed. Your position may vary. The other slots (top, bottom) are fixed.

Availability

The slots are given on a first come first served basis and you can book more than one month at a time.

There is no refund policy at this time so you may want to check with us first the availability of the slot you wish to book.

Prices

Prices are subject to change without notice.

At the end of your promotion

Once your promotion ends we will place your image and its links as-is on our sponsors archive page.

Booking / Payment

Payments must be made before the promotion starts. You can pay with your debit/credit card using Paypal (you don't need to have a Paypal account to use this service).

Please note your booking is not a recurring payment, you can book more than one month but you will not automatically be billed again at the end of your promotion. This is to ensure everybody gets a chance to book a slot.

During the payment process you will be able to give us the details of your promotion.

Once we received your payment, we will contact you within 24h to finalize the details of your sponsorship. There is an average of 2-3 days before your promotion starts.
